We're putting together the program for the next episode of Blind Drunk Justice, and hey, here's an idea we should have thought of two and a half seasons ago: Asking you for ideas.

If there is a story you want us to discuss, or a question about law, law school, life, love, liberty, or libations, post it in the comments below.

If we like it, we'll discuss it, and if not, we may discuss how stupid you are for asking. If posting a news item, be sure to include any relevant link we should be look at.

If you don't know what Blind Drunk Justice is, look over there on the left, you idiot. Hi, and welcome to Constitutional Daily.
